

„Anymore“

Music by Gennadi Podelski - English lyric by: Allan Dennis Rich

All the closets in the house are empty
And there's no trace of you in any room.
The only way that I could tell you lived here
Is the scent, left, from your perfume.

Nighttime comes and take out's on the table
Just one place setting where there once were two.
Wish it wasn't real, that I was dreaming
But it's all so terribly true.

It's time for bed, but there will be no sleeping
The pain and hurt is too much to endure
And there is nothing I can do about it.
(Cause) You just don't love me ANYMORE.

There is nothing that I didn't give you
But everything I had was not enough
In the end it really didn't matter
You preferred someone else's touch.

What happened to our promise of forever
Now they're just memories of yesterday
You took all our hopes and our tomorrows
You went and threw them away.

Yet I keep waiting for the key to turn dear
Any minute you'll walk through that door.
But it's never ever gonna happen
Cause you just don't love me ANYMORE.